Music and Dance of the Wadi Rum Bedouin

Explore the exotic culture of the Zelabia Bedouin during this marvellous performance of music and dance in the heart of the desert. The Wadi Rum is a vast, silent landscape of desert, dotted with yellow and red rocks, sculpted by wind and time into enchanting silhouettes. While this region is sometimes called the Valley of the Moon —wadi means valley in Arabic—the etymological history of the name likely refers to the topography of a valley surrounded by high rock formations. Today, the Zelabia Bedouin live nomadically throughout the valley in tents of goat hair just as their ancestors did thousands of years ago. In a desert camp constructed especially to meet visitors, relax upon traditional Bedouin cushions under the starry night sky. Watch in wonder as the Bedouin perform traditional music and dances in the mystical ambience of the night.

AzAmazing EveningSM Event – Valletta, Malta 04Jun17

Choir Performance at Mdina Cathedral

Depart the quay by coach for Mdina. Arrive outside the main gate and be led down the main street to St. Paul's Cathedral. Flanked by twin bell-towers, the cathedral's imposing ochre facade opens into an awe-inspiring space bestrewn with marble, ornate masonry work and richly detailed side chapels. The gilded arched vault within depicts the shipwreck of St. Paul in Malta as described in Acts in a series of breath-taking ceiling panel paintings by the Manno brothers.

Traditionally said to have been built on the site of the Palace of Publius

"The chief man of the island" in Roman times. It was here that St. Paul converted Publius to Christianity. The present Cathedral, dedicated to St. Paul, was built in 1697-1702, after its predecessor had been severely damaged by an earthquake. It was designed by Lorenzo Gafà, and is architecturally splendid in every way. Guests are invited inside to have a seat at Mdina Cathedral, the sounds of the Organ will start echoing in the Cathedral and the 12-piece Chamber Choir and 4 soloists will perform a circa 30-minute recital of operatic music to church organ.

Organ Concert in Monnickendam

Journey to Monnickendam and the “big church” of Grote Kerk, for an enchanting spectacle of architecture, music, and a live interpretation of Rembrandt’s The Night Watch. In a time when military portraits followed strict convention, Rembrandt’s famous painting depicts Captain Frans Banning Cocq and his civil guards in dynamic motion. As you enter, costumed soldiers will greet you, setting the mood for authenticity. Sit down for a dramatic performance that includes two organs, a trumpet player and a Mezzo-soprano. Then the evening will come to its climax with drums and actors marching to their fitting spot onstage while all the action and drama of Rembrandt’s monumental painting comes alive. Watch as an ordinary Dutch night transforms before your eyes.
