Turks & Caicos

When To Go

The Turks & Caicos islands enjoy a warm, subtropical climate that varies little year-round—the most refreshing time to visit is from November to May, with average temperatures of 26°C, though evenings may feel fresher due to the cooling trade winds. The summer months are hotter and humid, with the possibility of tropical showers.

GMT: 4 hours Flying Time: London to Providenciales: 10 hours 55 minutes, with a 1 hour stopover in Antigua

Island Fish Fry
Picture the scene in Provo on a Thursday night, as the sun goes down and the aroma of freshly fired fish fills the air. In the Bight Park, just a stone’s throw from glorious Grace Beach, over a dozen local food vendors come together to set up their tents and serve up succulent crab ‘n’ rice, lobster mac ’n’ cheese and a dizzying array of local fish straight from the grill. As the party gets underway, the Junkanoo Band starts to play and the dancing begins.

Unspoilt Cape
With only eight of the archipelago’s forty ruggedly beautiful islands inhabited, this unspoilt paradise boasts a wealth of untouched natural beauty. Explore the remarkably clear waters, spotting dolphins and whales, diving down to shipwrecks and marvelling at the colourful fish on the reefs, or simply languish on a stretch of deserted beach. Kayaing through the tranquil mangrove channels is also popular, or take a full day charter, with lunch included, to visit some of the more remote and uninhabited islands like French Cay and West Caicos.

Conch and Cruises
National symbol of the Turks & Caicos, the conch shell has long been considered a symbol of good luck by sailors. Visit Caicos Conch Farm, the only such farm in the world, to see how the Caribbean Queen conch is raised from veliger to adult, and how the prized pink pearls are formed. On a Snorkel and Conch Cruise you can collect beautiful specimens as you snorkel the reefs, stopping at Half Moon Bay to sample a delicious conch salad—perfect with an ice-cold beer or rum punch.

A Taste Of /

Underwater Sculpture Park
A circle of life-sized figures holding hands; a worker at his desk; petroglyphs based on Amerindian art...the underwater sculpture park in the Molinere Beauvais Marine Protected Area is an unforgettable sight, and ever changing due to the action of the ocean waves. Divers are also drawn to Grenada by the Bianca C. ‘Titanic of the Caribbean’, one of the world’s top ten wreck sites. The 180 metre-long ship, which sank in 1961, lies close to an expansive reef system populated by nurse sharks, eagle rays, moray eels and barracuda.

Spice it Up
With an abundance of cinnamon, cloves and nutmeg, Grenada truly is the Spice Island. Carrier-arranged tours will take you to cultivation spots such the De La Grenade Nutmeg Processing Station, from where you can take home a spice-filled jute bag stencilled with the wording of your choice. Treat your taste buds on a journey of chocolate discovery, the Belmont Estate combining cocoa with a goat dairy and craft co-operative, and finish off with a taste of spicy rum punch at one of the local distilleries.

Explore the Rainforest
In the mist-shrouded rainforest of Grenada – home to the island’s national bird, the Grenada Dove – you may come across the rare Mona monkeys, mongooses and nine-handed armadillos. Grand Etang National Park is hikers’ heaven, including the demanding climb up to Mount Qua Qua in the company of a guide, and to Lake Grand Etang which fills the crater of an extinct volcano. There are waterfalls galore, where swimming is a delight, or take the Grenada High Wire Challenge: an obstacle course adventure set high in the trees.

Wildlife Watching
From über-glamous Mustique to escapist Petit St Vincent, the Grenadines radiate tranquillity, yet there’s excitement to be found in the shape of the giant humpback whales, sperm whales and pilot whales that swim these waters, mainly from December to April. There are several varieties of dolphins too, with an unforgettable opportunity to see turtles in the wild in the Tobago Cays Marine Park or Old Hegg Turtle Sanctuary on Bequia. Night snorkelling brings a show of a different kind, as octopus, eel and ray come out to play.

Meet the Locals
The Grenadines is a melting pot of cultures, including descendants of African slaves and English colonists, and while the official language is English you’ll also hear a French patois. As you delve into this fascinating heritage you will come across the fishermens of Barrouallie, the indigenous Carib people of Sandy and Oria and the boat builders of Bequia - the welcome invariably rum-laced and warm in the multitude of small villages that dot the islands. Festivals are a great time to get acquainted – try the Mustique Blues Festival or Bequia’s Easter Regatta.

Out on the Water
Sailing is a way of life for Grenadians and Vincentians, the easiest way to get around these jewel-like islands, whether by luxury yacht, classic schoop, catamaran or speedboat. Captain a chartered yacht yourself or opt for crewed chartering which also includes provisions for the trip. With so many islands to choose from you can visit a different one every day, perhaps dropping anchor in a beautiful spot like Tobago Cays to enjoy a little snorkelling on the side. Deep sea fishing and scuba diving add to the adventure.

British Virgin Islands

When To Go
With a tropical climate and average temperature of 28°C, the winter months between January and April are the most popular months to visit, and also the ideal months to charter a boat as the waters are calmer and the days drier. Expect increased rainfall and the possibility of tropical storms between July and November.

GMT - 4 hours  Flying Time - 8 hours - 45 minutes to Antigua with a 60 minute onward flight

Natural Beauty
Bordered by unpopulated beaches and white-sailed yachts at anchor, the British Virgin Islands are an escapist’s dream. Inland lies a riot of tropical flora and lush landscapes that make for memorable hiking trips and birdwatching expeditions. Whether you take a helicopter trip, or travel by paddle board, you’ll be enchanted by islands such as Anegada surrounded by glorious reefs and famed for serving the best lobster in the Caribbean. Virgin Gorda boasts coral sand beaches and multi-hued sunsets best seen from a catamaran out on the North Sound.

Sailing
BVI aficionados agree; the magic of this enchanted archipelago is found on the water. It’s one of the few places in the world where you can charter a luxury yacht and sail to an array of islands, uninhabited cays, famous beach bars and world class snorkel spots – all in one day. Take a day trip by deluxe catamaran from Peter Island to explore the geological wonders of The Baths on Virgin Gorda; massive granite boulders shielded with hidden caves and pools. Sailing lessons are available for beginners, the calm trade winds making this a perfect place to learn.

Underwater Adventures
There’s a certain magic to dropping anchor in a deserted cove before diving into a brightly coloured underwater show. In the BVI, best class diving sites abound; our three resorts in the archipelago each offering memorable underwater experiences. From Peter Island, guests can dive on the Wreck of the Rhone – rated amongst the world’s top ten dive sites. Snorkelling, too, is second to none at prime locations including White Bay Beach, Deadman’s Beach and Honeymoon Beach. Surfing, sailing and glass-bottom boat trips add to the aquatic fun.

The Bahamas

The sub-tropical climate of The Bahamas changes little over the course of the year. November to May is less humid, with temperatures averaging 26°C, though the trade winds may result in cooler, fresher evenings. The summer months are hotter with the possibility of tropical showers.

A Taste Of

Aquatic Playground
In the Bahamas, recreations focus naturally on watersports, be it diving the numerous wrecks, snorkelling or venturing into undersea caves. There’ll be fishing tales to tell for those who follow in Hemingway’s footsteps and go in search of marlin, tuna and wahoo off Bimini, whilst an exhilarating powerboat ride to the creamy sandbars of the Exumas may even result in a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to swim with wild pigs. Join a dolphin tour or don a snorkel mask to spot sea turtles and spiny sea stars.

Family Adventures
There’s no end of family fun to be found in the Bahamas, from thrilling waterparks to horseback rides along the beach. There’s a Nimgay Adventure Programme at Blackbeard’s Cay, or buccaneering action for young pirates at the Pirates of Nassau Museum. Go wild in Aquaventure at Atlantis where 20,000 exotic sea creatures enhance the sense of fun and amazement, with stupendous river rides, daring plunges and a shark-encircled waterslide. You can even put on a glass helmet to walk amongst sharks – no swimming experience necessary.

Island Hopping
Each of the archipelago’s 700 outposts have their own distinct identity; from the fun-filled waterparks of Paradise Island, to the tranquility of Harbour Island, where golf carts are the preferred mode of transport and iles are inhabited solely by hermit crabs and seagulls. Stroll along the soft pink sands, dive into an astoundingly colourful underwater world, party with the friendly islanders at the Junkanoo carnival parade or sail to the Exuma Cays for a beach barbecue brimming with rock lobster and conch. Island hopping is a way of life here.

Tee off Heaven

Bermuda is the setting for some of the world’s most scenic golf courses, most of championship standard, many designed by iconic names such as Robert Trent Jones and Charles Banks. The Port Royal course in Southampton parish boasts stunning ocean views, while the Turtle Hill Golf Club at Fairmont Southampton was the deserved winner of Golf Digest’s ‘Best Places to Play Golf’. The undulating fairways of Tucker’s Green are a stiff but delightful challenge, or test your skills at Belmont Hills with its elevated and double-tiered greens.

Colonial Explorations

Bermuda’s rich colonial past is best discovered by water, with the Royal Naval Dockyard an ideal place to start. From Hamilton the ferry takes around thirty minutes, bringing you to the Maritime Museum and Commissioner’s House which showcases a stunning mural. Stroll over to the Craft Market, ceramics studios and glassblowing works where artists will demonstrate the art of flameworking. Held every Monday evening, Destination Dockyard is a festive celebration of dance, music, gastronomy, arts and crafts. St. George’s has a number of historic forts, designated a UNESCO World Heritage Site. }

Jamaica is a year-round holiday destination with a tropical climate and temperatures that hover around 26°C along the coast, usually tempered by the prevailing trade winds. The winter months between January to April are the most popular months to visit, characterised by warm, generally dry days, whilst the summer months between May and November tend to be hotter and more humid, with regular showers and the possibility of tropical storms.

Natural Wonders
Watch the beauty of the jungle go by on a tubing adventure down gin-clear rippling rivers. In the hills of Ocho Rios there are guided river tours and other exciting pursuits including a cascade climb and rope swings. Nearby Dunn’s River Falls is a national treasure, but for somewhere more tranquil head for Reach Falls where the swimming is sublime, or try rafting on the Martha Brae. Ride into the sea on horseback, or catch the astonishing sight of the natural glowing phosphorescent lagoon during a night sail on Glistening Waters.

Rhythmic Roots and Routes
Food and music come together in vibrant style, with the legacy of Bob Marley and the famous Jamaican jerk leading the celebrations. Reggae buffs will want to explore the Nine Miles Bob Marley Trail, learning about the singer-songwriter and visiting his mausoleum, while a tour of Kingston and Trench Town reveals the places that influenced his music. Don’t miss the Reggae Sumfest, held in the heart of Montego Bay; travel the Jamaican Jerk Trail through twenty two top jerk locations from Negril to Boston Bay.

Mytical Mountains
Rising to over 2,250 metres, the Blue Mountains dominate Jamaica’s lush interior. With a cooler climate, it’s perfect terrain for hiking to deserted waterfalls via welcoming local villages - a Rasta guide can be arranged who will give insights into local flora and culture. Look out for streamer-tailing hummingbirds and rare swallowtail butterflies in the Holywell Nature Preserve. The mountains are also coffee country, with opportunities to visit a plantation and sample different blends with a local expert – the perfect gift to take home.

Riviera Maya
Mother Nature’s Riviera Maya melds bustling streets with dense jungle and unblemished beaches. Porcelain white sands are lapped by a sapphire sea, a perfect playground for snorkelling kaleidoscopic coral reefs or for watching whale sharks migrate. Inland lies a landscape peppered with Mayan remains including the famed Chichén Itzá, chosen in 2007 as one of the New 7 Wonders of the World. There are quaint fishing villages to explore, bonefish to catch and deep sea fishing expeditions to join. Playa del Carmen buzzes with intimate boutiques, busy restaurants and flamboyant night clubs, while Cozumel is known for its scuba diving, and Tulum for its beachside Mayan ruins.

 Mérida
A UNESCO World Heritage City, the Yucatan’s capital is the ideal base for exploration. Criss-crossed by cobbled streets, the White City brims with enchanting parks and plazas, lively markets, galleries and artisan boutiques, complemented by restaurants from the cheap and cheerful to the distinctly high end. No visit would be complete without a visit to the imposing cathedral, with its baroque façade, or Museum of Modern Art housed near by in the former archbishop’s palace. Spend a while beneath the laurel trees in the town’s pretty Plaza Grande, scene of regular cultural events such as folkloric dancing. Yucatán’s magical cenotes offer a never-to-be-forgotten swimming experience in an emerald underworld lost in time.

Mexico City
Rich with history, culture and everything in between, the pulsating metropolis of Mexico City is a place for the curious and adventurous, where something unique and intriguing awaits around every corner. Built over the Aztec city of Tenochtitlan, this thriving metropolis boasts countless museums, design-led hotels, eclectic fine dining experiences and most notably of all, artistic discoveries. Year after year, thousands of art-appreciators flock to Casa Azul, the former home of legendary artist Frida Kahlo. This vibrant house-cum-museum might be one of Mexico City’s most distinctive landmarks, yet explore beyond its cobalt walls and you’ll discover something more; the converted taco stalls and colour clad buildings of Roma, the contemporary art galleries of upscale Polanco and the overall beauty of a city steeped in contrasts.

A Taste Of /

Puerto Plata
Although steeped in history, Puerto Plata is best known for its beaches, extending over 100km along the Atlantic shoreline. It is here that Columbus made landfall in 1492, visitors can find the remains of the first European settlement in the Americas. For spectacular panoramic views of the city, board a cable car for the scenic journey up Mount Isabel del Torre; the mountain is also home to a botanical garden and a replica of Christ the Redeemer Statue. Dive and snorkel in the off-shore coral reefs, or try kite surfing at Cabarete - renowned for its seafood.

Santo Domingo
Designated as a World Heritage Site by UNESCO, this vibrant colonial city is a joy to discover. Catedral Primada is the oldest in the Americas, while Plaza de España is the perfect spot to people-watch from one of the lively open terrace restaurants. Every corner seems to reveal another architectural gem or monument from centuries gone by, the cobblestone streets winding their way to intimate boutiques, more recently enhanced by shining malls. The botanical gardens are magnificent; the Malecón makes for a pleasant stroll beside the ocean.

Private Tours and Guides
To learn more about the island’s colonial past, or immerse yourself in its natural treasures, Carrier can arrange customised private tours. Beyond the architectural attractions of Santo Domingo and Puerto Plata, there are quaint fishing villages to visit, local festivals to join and spectacular wonders such as the Samaná Falls to discover. Particularly popular are the helicopter flights to rum distilleries, chocolate factories and cigar factories, such as Babunuco’s in Cabrera. Learn merengue dancing, shop for amber and go whale watching – the opportunities are endless.

When To Go
The Dominican Republic is an enticing year-round destination, with temperatures averaging 28°C-30°C. The winter months, between December to February, are the most popular months to visit in addition to whale-watching season from mid-January to mid-March. The summer months, from May to November, tend to be hotter and more humid with regular showers and the possibility of tropical storms.

Puerto Rico

When To Go
Puerto Rico’s climate varies little between 24°C-29°C year-round, with the driest months between January to April. Showers are possible throughout the year, although rainfall is greater from May to October when tropical storms are also a possibility.

GMT -5 hours Flying Time London to San Juan - 13 hours via New York

North vs. West
Utterly distinctive, but equally delightful, the North and West coasts vie for attention. On the northern shores, Puerto Atlántico is developing space, its new luxury hotels and golf courses adding to the region’s stunning natural beauty. The Camuy River Cave Park is particularly worth exploring, some caves reaching ten storeys high and 200 feet wide. The west coast boasts the best beaches, Porto del Sol being the island’s undisputed surfing capital, while Cabo Rojo’s cliffs provide breathtaking beach views. La Parguera has one of the world’s few remaining bioluminescent bays.

San Juan
Historic fortifications, shady plazas and iconic landmarks abound – the old city is a favourite film location that has welcomed the likes of George Clooney and Morgan Freeman. El Morro is the oldest Spanish fort in the New World, its enormous ramparts ideal for looking down over the island and old town, where seventeenth century Spanish ironwork graces the carefully-restored homes. Pick up one-of-a-kind handmade pieces in the artisan quarters, head to a market with a local chef or take salsa lessons before hitting the town.

Golf Galore
Puerto Rico’s passion for golf goes back to the 1950s, when Robert Trent Jones Sr. designed a course for the Dorado Resort. Since then, the sport has flourished on the island and now offers twenty one world-class courses and hosts the Puerto Rico Open, the only official PGA event in the Caribbean. Keeping it in the family, Robert Trent Jones Jr. created the oceanside fairways and greens at The St. Regis Bahia Beach Resort. The Dorado’s East Course, Pineapple Course and Sugarcane course continue to offer every golfing challenge under the sun.
